The promotion of a love for music and the better assquaintance with the songs of Hatton, Bishop Mactarren, smart Webbe, and Archibald Johnston has found an earnest advocate in Dr. George II. Michell, at whose residence, 1892 Sixteenth street, every Monday evening, rehearsais of English four-part songs, glees, &c., occur. Prof. John Theophil, organist at the Church of Our Fatner, is the musical conductor. Prof. Staughton 8. Doyle the pianist, and a double quartette of ladles and gentlemen amateur vocalists render the music. Should a sufficient number of good readers offer, it is contemplated to form a second club, to meet in another section of the city.

The Shakspeare Club on Saturday night were reserved by Miss Amy Leavist. The second act of the second part of Henry VI was read, and Mr. Whitaker made some interesting remarks regarding the disputed authorship of the play. Music followed, the functal march of Chopin being exquisitely rendered by Miss Leavist and the songs of "The Owl" and "Pierrot" being tinely sung by Mr. Prevost. Mrs. Hort, Miss Dade, and Miss Poeske read several interesting poems. Mr. Tweedale recited in a very effective manner "The Idiot Boy," and Mr. Jefferson convulsed the audience with an account of the king's visit to the campmenting. The exercises closed with a charming song from Miss Rhodes.

he lext inuscal event, and one that promises to create considerable interest and undoubted success, will be the concert to be given at the Congregational Church, on February 24, being the third concert in the course of the Tabernacie Church. The seating capacity of the latter church was deemed insufficient for this concert, and consequently the Congregational Church was secured. The novel feature of the concert will be in the fact that the programme will consist entirely of the compositions of Washington composers. Every prominent local composers works will be rendered and in a majority of cases by the composers themselves. As each one has many friends and admirers they, of conese, will turn out in force to show their approclation of their favorite. The full Marine band, with Frof. The Uses of Ugliness. The lecture by the Rev. J. DeWitt Miller at the Metropolitan M. E. church last night or the Metropolitan M. E. church last night on "The Uses of Ugliness," was an exceptionally good one. It was a rare treat to these who heard it. It could well be called a lecture on the power of homeliness and the dangers of beauty. It was an honest attempt by a man dead in carmest to reconcile average people to the mercelites of their situation. It was in no sense a funny lecture, but one of deep seriouses, yet sparkling throughout with genuine humor and with. Mr Miller is a young man, eloquent and foreible as a speaker, and possessed in a rare degree of the ability to combine theories and facts in such a way as to hold his andience with unflagging interest for an hour and a half.
